RELEASE OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR NON-INSURED PACKAGES USING US POSTAL SERVICES

US postal services works in conjunction with a varied range of overseas Postal Services which makes it difficult to monitor in-transit packages. Overseas packages are usually handed over to the country's Postal Administration, who then delivers the packages to it's final destination.

Axion Technologies Inc. does not encourage shipping of International packages with US Postal services, because we cannot guarantee safe delivery of these packages, especially when it leaves the United States. We usually encourage our international customers to choose more reliable courier companies – DHL, UPS and FedEx.

If however, a customer insist on using US postal services we require that they sign this document releasing us of all responsibilities, in the event that the package is not delivered to them and/or damaged.
